4. 어렸을 때 집과 지금 집 비교

I remember when I lived in an apartment complex as a child.

I used to hang out with my neighbors all the time.

Because I lived in a rural area, there were large rivers and lots of mountains close to my house. But now, things have changed a lot. I still live in an apartment complex, but it's a bit different from the place I grew up. Both are apartment complexes, but my new one has a great city view.

My favorite thing to do is having a bottle of beer while enjoying the view of the city.

Plus, public transportation is accessible, so it has become a lot better than the past.

I can just walk out and take the subway in five minutes.

Overall, I enjoy living in apartment complexes, both in the country and in the city.

Well, I can't think of anything right now, but the only thing I remember is watching the news about the housing market in Korea a few months ago.

It was about rising housing prices which has been an ongoing issue for several years.

The housing prices have been skyrocketed for years. Because of this, the rent prices have also risen a lot. Due to this issue, people have a lot of trouble finding a home.

It's hard to find a house at a reasonable price. So, the government came up with some policies to curb housing prices. But it seems like they are not always effective.

In fact, they sometimes backfire and the housing prices go up again. Well, I guess the housing price is definitely one of the biggest issues in Korea.
